‘Teachers are second parents for students’

Joint Director of Collegiate Education K. Kudalingam addressing a gathering at The American College. •

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT MADURAI

Former Presidents Sarvapalli Radhakrishnan and A.P.J. Abdul Kalam, who assumed the highest office of the land, were teachers. Hence, teachers had a chance to elevate themselves to the top slot in the nation, Joint Director of Collegiate Education K. Kudalingam said here on Tuesday.

He was speaking on the topic, ‘Quality higher education in changing times,’ at a function to mark Teacher’s Day at The American College.

Mr. Kudalingam said if every teacher dedicated their life to the student community, the future of the nation would be in safe hands. Such was the task and responsibility entrusted with the teachers.

Referring to reports of suicides attributed to a new online game, he said teachers – more than parents – had a major role in creating awareness among students on the evils surrounding online games such as Blue Whale and other cyber crimes.

Since children spent more time in school and college campuses, teachers were like second parents. Hence, “we should take care of them like our wards,” he said.

In a rapidly changing world, expectations ran high to excel. In this process, there was unhealthy competition. Again, the teachers had a pivotal role to play in the midst of the students. Every teacher should involve their students while teaching. In order to gain their attention, they should explore innovative ways.

Instead of a negative approach, positive thinking was the need of the hour. In a nutshell, teachers should remain readers of books for life, so that they could be a ready reckoner on education and also teach the nuances of knowledge.

He also suggested that they prepare the syllabus in such a way that it gave ample opportunity for employability to the students.

College Principal Christopher Davamani presided. Internal Quality Assurance Cell coordinator K. Gnana Sekar proposed a vote of thanks.
